NATIONAL ROWING FOUNDATION

May 31, 2014

Dear Friends of Rowing:

It is an honor to welcome you to the National Rowing Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony, honoring the Class of 2014. Tonight we will celebrate seventeen individuals whose accomplishments have earned them membership into the National Rowing Hall of Fame.

The National Rowing Hall of Fame has been honoring rowers for over 50 years, and the National Rowing Foundation (NRF) has been the shepherd of the Hall of Fame for more than 30 years. Tonight, however is only the third time that the NRF has had a stand-alone induction ceremony to welcome the new class of inductees into the Hall of Fame. We hope this is a tradition that will continue as our National Team athletes, and coaches strive to achieve great results.

Please enjoy yourselves tonight as we honor and celebrate the Class of 2014!

Congratulations and Best Wishes,

Dear Inductees, Guests and Friends of Rowing:

It is with great pleasure that the United States Rowing Association joins in celebrating the accomplishments of these national team alumni and fellow athletes as they are inducted into the 2014 Class of the National Rowing Foundation Hall of Fame.

Youth rowers in America have excellent role models looking to the athletes we honor this year, and it is because of the aspirational strength of our top athletes that rowing continues to flourish and grow throughout the country today.

From my own perspective, it is wonderful to see so many athletes honored whom I have personally known and been fortunate enough to have first hand experience of their efforts and performances.

We honor these inductees for excellence, fair play, hard work and leadership and wish them joyful memory of their accomplishments and contributions to rowing.

Best regards,

Glenn Merry

JAMIE KOVEN

Jamie's career in Olympic and Worlds competition spans over eleven years from 1990 to 2000 with an incredible comeback in 2009. He made his Senior National Team debut as part of the Men's 8+ that finished third at the 1993 World Championships and never looked back. Jamie was part of the World Champion Men's 8+ in 1994 that also won the Grand Challenge Cup at the Henley Royal Regatta in both 1994 and 1995. He competed in the Men's 8+ through the 1996 Olympic Games in Atlanta before making the switch to the Men's Single. In unprecedented fashion,

Jamie won the Men's 1X at the 1997 World Championships and won the Diamond Challenge Sculls at the 1998 Royal Henley Regatta before competing in the Men's 4- at the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, finishing fifth. An incredibly versatile athlete, Jamie emerged on the national team scene again in 2009, competing at various National Selection Regattas in the Men's 2-, Men's 2X and Men's 1X finishing third, fourth and seventh respectively.

Jamie was born on April 18, 1973 in Morristown, NJ. He began rowing at St. Paul's School in 1988 before attending Brown University where he graduated in 1995 with a B.A. in Mechanical Engineering. While at Brown, Jamie won the collegiate hammer at the 1992, 1993 and 1994 C.R.A.S.H.-B World Indoor Rowing Championships. Jamie, along with his older brother Gus, were part of the Brown University crew that won the school's first National Championship in 1995. He was named Best Male Varsity Athlete in 1995 and was inducted into the Brown University Hall of Fame in 2000. After retiring from rowing in 2000, Jamie began working for One Equity Partners in 2001 where he has been a Partner since 2005. He is the current Co-Chair of the National Rowing Foundation and lives in Greenwich, CT with his wife Sophie and their four children, Lucy, Annabel, Charlie and Henry.

YASMIN "YAZ" FAROOQ

Yaz started her rowing career at the University of Wisconsin in 1984 and quickly found she had a knack for coxing. In 1989 Yaz made her first National Team as coxswain of the women's eight. She went on to win 3 silvers and a gold at World Championships during here 8 years on the National Team, this included the US women's first ever World Championship gold in the women's eight. Yaz was the coxswain of the 1992 women's Olympic eight and women's rowing team captain in the 1996 Olympics.

Yaz went on to work in the private sector she stayed in touch with rowing as a commentator for NBC Olympic rowing coverage. In 2006 Stanford offered her a job as the coach of women's rowing, a job she never expected to take, but her success there has shown it to be the right choice. Soon after taking over Yaz led Stanford to its first ever National Championship. Since then the team has gone on to win numerous other PAC 12 and National Championships.

Yaz is currently continuing her coaching career at Stanford and has helped coach the U23 Team and numerous Stanford athletes who have gone on to have great success on the US National Team.

PORTER COLLINS

Porter began his rowing career at the Salisbury School in 1990 and attended Brown University where he continued his rowing career. Porter led his freshmen crew to an undefeated season winning the Eastern Sprints, IRAs and Thames Cup. In his sophomore year at Brown, Porter was again part of an outstanding crew and helped his varsity boat win an IRA Championship, this boat is considered one of the best in Brown's history. While continuing his rowing career at Brown and eventually becoming Captain, Porter started rowing for the US National Team.

Porter spent 5 years on the National Team. In 1995 he was part of the coxed four that won gold at the World Championships. Following this showing he took a year off of school to make a successful bid to be part of the 1996 Olympic team in the men's eight. In 1997 and 1998 he rejoined the men's eight to win World Championships. In 2000 he was again part of the US Olympic team on the men's eight.

Porter is currently a Portfolio Manager at Seawolf Capital LLC which he co-founded in 2011 and resides in New York with his family.

GARRETT MILLER

Garrett began his rowing career at La Salle High School in 1992. He went on to the University of Pennsylvania where he continued his rowing career and graduated in 1999. At Penn Garrett came in second place in the collegiate event at C.R.A.S.H.-B's his freshman year and won the event the next three years. In his senior year effort at C.R.A.S.H.-B's, besides winning the collegiate event, he also came in second in the International event.

Garrett made his first National Team in 1997 as a member of the World Champion men's eight. Garrett continued to earn a spot on the men's eight in 1998 and 1999 winning two more World Championship gold medals. In 2000 Garrett was part of the US Olympic Team as a member of the men's eight once again.

Garrett Miller currently lives in Philadelphia and is a Principle at Washington Square Realty Capital..

TOM WELSH

Tom Welsh started his rowing career in 1992 at St. Joseph's Prep, he had a rocky start, breaking a toe on the dock before he even got in a boat. After growing six inches and learning to scull Tom's career was in full swing and he continued to shine winning both Statesbury and Scholastic Nationals. After his freshmen year at Princeton University Tom had his first opportunity to represent the US at an international regatta winning gold in the men's eight at the Nations Cup Under 23 World Championships.

Tom's crews at Princeton University were very successful, winning multiple Eastern Sprints and IRA championships before he graduated in 1999. During this time he made his first National Team as part of the gold medal winning men's eight in the 1998 World Championships. 1999 was again a part of the World Champion winning men's eight and he went on to earn a spot in the same boat in the 2000 Sydney Olympics.

Tom currently resides in Silicon Valley with his wife and daughter and he works at Novarca.

MICHAEL WHERLEY

Mike started rowing at the University of Minnesota in 1990. Graduating in 1995 Mike went on to make eight Nationals Teams and two Olympic Teams. Mike's success on the National Team began immediately with three consecutive gold medals as a member of the men's eight in the 1997, 1998 and 1999 World Championships. Mike would continue to win more medals in the men's eight with a bronze in 2002 and a silver in 2003.

Mike was a oarsman in the coxless four in both the 2000 and the 2004 Olympic Games. While 2004 was Mike's last year as a member of the US National Team his rowing career did not end there. Wanting to get a graduate degree in finance, he was accepted to Oxford University, getting to row was an extra. Mike proved to once again be an outstanding oarsman, helping Oxford win the Boat Race and himself becoming the oldest athlete to ever win the oldest race in rowing history.

Mike currently resides in Philadelphia with his family and is a Business Analyst at FMC Corp. Mike is also the current President of Penn AC.

The Women's Eight has historically been a strong event for the United States, having medaled at 16 World Championships since 1976. In fact, American Women's Eights have consistently broken and re-broken the world record since 2004. However, it wasn't until 2006 that the U.S. Women's Eight became truly unstoppable and undefeated. It was the 2008 American women who dominated the Beijing field from start to finish and brought home the first Olympic Gold in the Women's Eight since 1984.

ERIN CAFARO

Erin was born in Modesto, CA on June 9, 1983. She began her rowing career as a college student at the University of California at Berkeley, where she won two NCAA Championships in 2005 and 2006. Erin graduated with a degree in Political Science in 2006. She first competed for the United States before her senior year, winning the Women's 4- at the 2005 World Rowing Under-23 Championships. Upon graduating, Erin joined the Princeton Training Center, earning a berth on the Senior National Team her first year out of college. She took bronze in the Women's 4- at the 2006 World Championships and won the event the following year. She rowed Bow seat in the 2008 Olympic Champion Women's 8+.

Erin continued to train following Beijing, winning both the Women's 2- and Women's 8+ at the 2009 World Championships, a first for the United States. She earned a bronze at the 2010 World Championships in the Women's 2- and won her second Olympic Gold medal in the 2012 Women's 8+ that competed in London.

LINDSAY SHOOP

Lindsay was born in Charlottesville, VA on September 25, 1981. She joined the rowing team in the spring of her junior year at the University of Virginia, where she graduated with a degree in Spanish and a minor in Art History. Lindsay moved to Princeton in 2004 and first competed for the United States in the Women's 8+ and Women's 2- in the 2005 World Championships. She won as part of the Women's 8+ in 2006, 2007, 2008 and 2009. Lindsay sat 2-seat in

TOM TERHAAR

Originally from Buffalo, NY, Tom rowed as a junior before attending Rutgers University where he graduated in 1991. Tom served as a national team assistant coach from 1994 to 2000, coaching the Women's 2X to a fifth-place finish at the 2000 Olympic Games. He then coached at Columbia University in 2000, leading the lightweights to an Eastern Sprints title and a second place finish at the IRA Championships. Tom was named the Head Coach of the Women's National Team in 2000 and has led the Women's 8+ to seven World Championship wins, the Women's 2- to one

World Championship win and the Women's 8+ to one silver Olympic medal and two Olympic gold medals.

Jack Sulger

Few have made the contributions to rowing that Jack did, there have been outstanding oarsman and exceptional coaches, but Jack help shape rowing both in the US and internationally into what it is today. That being said as an oarsman Jack was no slouch winning six National Championships. He also proved to be a successful coach with a number of his athletes going on to win national and international titles. He spent 30 successful years as a coach at NYAC.

Jack also participated as an official and facilitator at all levels of the sport. He helped get courses built, officiated Olympic trials and was the manager of several Pan Am teams and the 1964 Olympic Team. Jack is credited with helping to create at least a dozen rowing programs at the university and club level. He also a key support for the first Junior National World Championships and in getting the quad event added to the World Championships.

Jack was also a cop in New York for almost 30 years and was admitted to the Bar in 1954. He also taught at John J College of Criminal Justice for 15 years. Jack died suddenly in 1979 leaving behind his family, which included two more generations of rowers.
